Ford nets petty wins in budget

$60-million savings scheme largely denied. Meanwhile, councillor jabs at Ford staff raises

Mayor Rob Ford's grab bag of proposed cost-cutting measures were soundly rejected Thursday night by city council, which finalized the $9.6-billion operating budget for 2014.

"This is easy, $60 million, easy, and we're not touching services," Ford said in the run-up to evening votes on dozens of spending motions. Persuading councillors that he had, in fact, identified $60 million in viable, potential savings wasn't easy, however, though the mayor chuckled when he scored some minor victories.

Councillors voted 24-21 to support his motion to eliminate the employee-engagement survey estimated to cost $250,000 in 2014.

"That's 250, man, I'll take anything right now," Ford said, leaning back in his chair and raising his two thumbs in the air.

Councillors, in a 29-16 vote, also passed a Ford motion to eliminate the printing of Our Toronto and City Insider magazines, projected to cost $476,000 this year.

On Wednesday night, council voted to approve a residential property tax increase of 2.71 per cent. The 2014 operating budget includes money to pay for the Scarborough subway and funding increases for the TTC and Toronto Police Service.

The average Toronto homeowner will pay $3,612 in property taxes this year, including education taxes. Despite some rancor and name-calling, the budget debate was dramatically shorter than in years gone by, when the wrangling could stretch to a week.

Coun. Denzil Minnan-Wong, meanwhile, raised questions about the bonuses he said Ford has given to his staff in the past — to which Ford replied: "Did I give my staff raises? Absolutely."

Ford did not share any further details. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

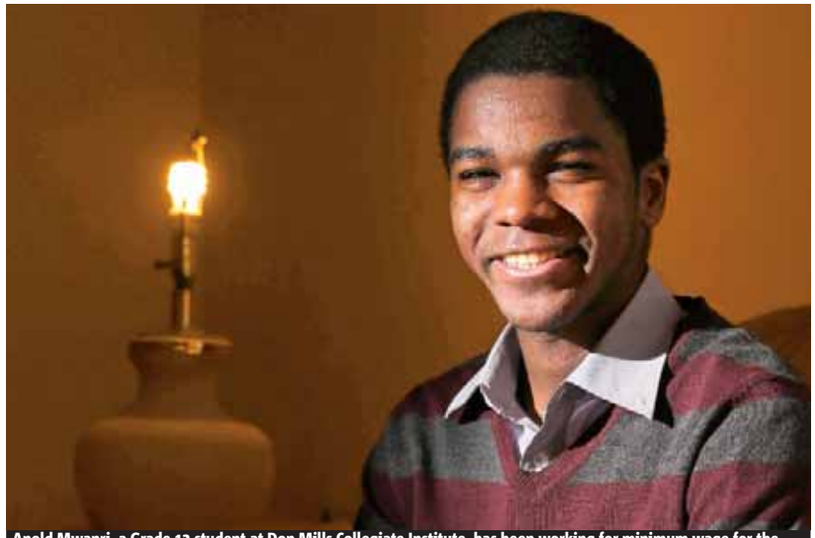
Youth struggling on low wages

Minimum wage hike. About 62% of minimum wage workers are under 25, many of them saving for post-secondary costs

Policy think-tank

A study by the Wellesley Institute says the number of minimum wage earners in Ontario has doubled since 2003. About one in 10 toils for minimum wage.

- Almost 60 per cent are women and they are three times as likely to be immigrants or non-white when compared with all Ontario workers.



Anold Mwanri, a Grade 12 student at Don Mills Collegiate Institute, has been working for minimum wage for the past nine months to pay for university next year. STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Toronto's roughly 200,000 minimum wage earners getting a raise to $11 an hour in June are largely young people working in the retail and food service sectors.

But just because many of them still live at home, it doesn't mean they don't deserve better pay, they say.

Anold Mwanri, 17, a Grade 12 student, has been working for minimum wage for the past nine months to help pay for university next year.

Even though he put in 40-hour weeks last summer and works 10 hours weekly during school, Mwanri says he will never have enough to cover the $10,000 tuition to study engineering.

"My parents have limited ability to help me. So I have to get everything from my job and from OSAP (student loans)," said Mwanri. "If I'm not in 'real' poverty now, I will be by the time I get my degree."

Fortunately, the student wage is also rising — to $10.30 — under Premier Kathleen Wynne's announcement Thursday that the provincial minimum wage will go up June 1 after being frozen at $10.25 for four years.

According to a recent government report, 62 per cent of minimum wage workers are under 25 with about two-thirds between the ages of 15 and 19.

More than half of minimum wage workers — 56 per cent — are still living at home with their parents, the report noted.

StatsCan reports that just 12.5 per cent of minimum wage earners in Ontario were living below the poverty line in 2011. But students beg to differ.

To fund her studies, student Nicole Schmidt, 19, works minimum wage jobs in the summer and during school breaks. Although her parents are paying her tuition, she still struggles to pay her living expenses.

"Living in an urban setting is quite expensive," she said. "I depend on what I earn in the summer to keep me fueled for the year and it's just not enough." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Teachers must take second unpaid day

Teachers across the Toronto District School Board will have to take a second unpaid day this year — Friday March 7, the PD day that kicks off March break — to help pay for raises won for new teachers in the latest deal with Queen's Park.

The board told its 17,415 permanent teachers they won't be paid for the March 7 professional development day — and will not have to attend any training — because too few took the one-time offer of early retirement and voluntary unpaid leave to offset the cost of giving teachers the PD day with pay.

"The whole thing has been a nightmare and it continues to be frustrating," said Martin Long, president of the Elementary Teachers of Toronto, who said it seemed "obvious from the get-go" the incentives wouldn't be enough to spare teachers another day without pay. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Taxi Confessions, Part 2. Riders dish on their bedroom behaviours

Play Taxi Media, the national network of in-taxi touchscreens, surveyed more than 8,000 men and women in December 2013 and January 2014 on their current and past relationships. The results of this survey may shock and surprise you. Reader discretion is advised.

Have you ever cheated on your partner? Exactly 41 per cent of men and women have cheated on their partner at one point in their current or past relationships.

Have you ever had unprotected sex with someone who was not your partner? Thirty-seven per cent of men and 39 per cent of women have never had unprotected sex with someone other than their partner, but 29 per cent of men and 27 per cent of women have admitted doing so on more than five occasions.

Does your partner (current or past) possess images, videos or voice mails of "intimate moments"? Forty-six per cent of men and 50 per cent of women admit being in possession of some form of recorded intimacy.

How comfortable are you with your partner? More than 75 per cent of men and women admit that "everything goes" when discussing their comfort levels in the bedroom, but more men admitted being timid (21 per cent) in the bedroom than women (16 per cent).

The limo driver allegedly struck in the head by teenage pop star Justin Bieber quit his job shortly after the incident out of shock, according to a manager of the limousine company.

The driver had only been on the job for two months before Bieber, 19, and his entourage hopped into his SUV limo around 3 a.m. on Dec. 30. Police say six people entered the vehicle outside a nightclub in the Peter Street and Adelaide Street West area.

On the way to the hotel, an altercation took place between the driver and a passenger. The driver was struck in the back of the head several times, according to police. He pulled over and called police and the man who struck him fled.

"(The driver is) in shock. Something like this does not happen in Toronto. We've been in business since 1971 and it never gets to the extreme," said Tony Albert, manager of Park Lane Livery, the parent company of the one that drove Bieber that night.

He declined to disclose the driver's identity on advice of legal counsel, but said he was middle-aged and new to the position.

Bieber, Lisi's pain is lawyer's gain

Defence. Big-name criminal cases are boosting the profile of attorney Seth Weinstein

The criminal law office of top criminal defence lawyer Brian Greenspan has been busy with Toronto's two highest-profile cases in recent months.

On Wednesday night, partner Seth Weinstein was inside the glass doors of Toronto police's downtown 52 Division station standing next to teen superstar and Stratford, Ont., native Justin Bieber, 19. The pop singer surrendered to police and has been charged with assault for an alleged incident involving a limo driver in December.

While screaming teenage fans may be unchartered territory, Weinstein is no stranger to large swarms of journalists crowding for a shot or sound bite in the most talked-about story of the day.

After Mayor Rob Ford's friend Alexander Lisi was re-arrested in October and charged with extortion, Weinstein appeared beside the alleged drug dealer outside the Old City Hall courthouse when he made bail.

Police claim Lisi threatened alleged gang members to get a video that shows Ford smoking what appears to be crack cocaine. That case has not yet gone to trial.

In March, it will be Bieber coming and going from the Old City Hall courthouse for his first appearance.

Weinstein has confirmed his firm will be representing Bieber on the charge with Greenspan as lead counsel. A statement sent by Weinstein Wednesday said they would not be commenting on the details of the charges against the singer.

"Our position is that Mr. Bieber is innocent," the statement read. "We anticipate that this matter will be treated as a summary offence."

Pioneering female doctor rejected rules

Sitting across from an Air Ministry official just after the end of World War II, Helen Morley simply wouldn't accept the Royal Air Force policy that prevented her from joining her husband in India.

So with characteristic moxie, Morley secured passage on a ship full of Italian PoWs being repatriated and went anyway.

Refusing to take no for an answer was a recurring theme throughout Morley's long life, which came to an end Jan. 19, four years after a stroke confined her to her bed. She was six weeks shy of her 96th birthday.

Morley would go on to become a pioneering public health doctor in Toronto, giving out contraceptives and family planning advice in the 1950s, when it was still illegal to do so.

A believer in bioenergetics, she would tell anyone invited into her house to pick up a tennis racket and hit the bed while yelling to release stress.

Morley is survived by two sisters, three children, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

U of T group wants university to divest from fossil fuel industry

'Carbon bubble.' Group highlights climate destabilization and potential financial risk

MILA PETKOVIC
toronto@metronews.ca

They may not have Neil Young's rock star status, but a University of Toronto group are fighting climate change in their own quiet way.

For over a year, Toronto350.org has been working in earnest on their campaign to get the university to withdraw its investments from fossil fuel companies.

Endorsed by scientist and environmental activist Dr. David Suzuki, and backed by top Canadian lawyer Dimitri Lascaris, the group plans to present their case to the university in early March.

"We're altering the chemistry of the planet in an uncontrolled and dangerous way. We're already seeing the effects of climate destabilization, like the increasing frequency of extreme weather events," said Stuart Basden, president of the group.

"Divestment can help reduce climate destabilization by loosening the grip that these fossil fuel companies have on our government and financial markets."

The group also highlights the potential financial risk of investing in fossil fuels, referring to the "carbon bubble" — a theory supported by leading economists and organizations such as HSBC and Citibank.

Right now, the price of shares is calculated under the assumption that all fossil fuel reserves will be consumed. However, if policy shifts to reflect the agreement made by Canada and 140 other nations at the 2009 United Nations Climate Change Conference to keep below a two-degree average global temperature rise, reserves may be unsaleable and share prices may be over-inflated.

To date, no university in Canada has agreed to divest, but nine colleges and universities in the United States have made the pledge. The World Bank and the UN are calling for it. Vancouver recently announced it is headed in the same direction.

"The University of Toronto has been on the right side of history in the past, having divested from companies with ties to South African apartheid in the 1980s," said Basden. "Now it's time for them to take a stand again, and in doing so, become a global leader in addressing the greatest crisis of our generation."

U of T spokesperson Laurie Stephens told Metro that university president Meric Gertler may establish an ad hoc committee to consider the group's petition.

"I anticipate that the university community will engage in a valuable debate which will inform the president's response," said Stephens.

The presentation takes place on Mar. 6 in the Hart House Debates Room at 7 p.m.

To raise awareness about their campaign, Toronto350.org is hosting a divestment with live music on Feb. 27. in the Hart House Debates Room.

$9.8M investment

- Latest published figures show Royal Dutch Shell as the university's largest single-company investment of $9.8 million.
- A number of cities in the U.S., including Seattle, San Francisco and Portland, have committed to pursue divestment.

Trees downed by ice storm find new life in furniture

Lars Dressler, of Brothers Dressler furniture, with the tree he found after the ice storm. He plans to turn it into a bench. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

In the wake of December's ice storm, most saw debris scattered everywhere. Lars Dressler saw good materials.

Dressler, who runs the custom furniture company Brothers Dressler with his brother Jason, happened upon a 1,500-lb tree toppled near his Sterling Road workshop just a day after the storm pulled down trees across the GTA, cutting power to more than 300,000 customers.

"We drove by and noticed that this tree had been pulled out, roots and all, from the ground. We were lucky to get our hands on that," he said. "To me it was about potential and what can be done with it."

Dressler said the piece will take about a year before it's dry enough to work with, but thinks it might eventually become a bench.

Dressler's shop was part of a design exhibition honouring the tree that was thought to inspire Alexander Muir's The Maple Leaf Forever. Their piece was a hanging light with interwoven branches of the maple as a shade.

Trees picked up by the city are destined for a decidedly less ceremonial end.

Sean Gorham, owner of Urban Tree Salvage, says private arborists have been struggling to off-load full trees that could not be saved from the damage. Landfills can charge $90 per tonne and up, he said.

"We just recently opened our doors to private arborists because of the devastation the ice storm has caused," he said. "Everybody has a huge problem with wood waste."

TTC STAFF LOOKING TO NEW TRANSFER SYSTEM, REVIEW OF TRANSIT STOPS

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

At a busy TTC board meeting this week, staff presented several reports, two of which are designed to improve service, and to continually and progressively modernize the TTC.

The first related to TTC transfers. Currently, transfers are good for a single, uninterrupted journey, valid only as one transfers from route to route. Once at a destination, and having left the TTC, the transfer expires.

The board supported staff's recommendation to study the option of allowing riders who pay a single fare to make multiple stops, leaving the TTC within a set period of time – say 90 or 120 minutes – using what is commonly called a time-based transfer. Staff will consider the impact on the TTC's 2015 budget, as a time-based transfer does mean a loss of revenue. But time-based transfers are also a customer benefit, something most transit systems around the world have in place. It also makes good sense as the TTC moves closer to fully adopting the PRESTO farecard.

The TTC board also considered a report to direct staff to evaluate the current location or, in some cases, elimination of some of the TTC's more than 10,000 stops. The TTC would achieve two objectives with such an evaluation: firstly, working with the City, we would look to improve pedestrian safety by ensuring stops are located as close as possible to signalized intersections or crosswalks; secondly, eliminating some stops that are spaced very closely together would improve speed and reliability along a particular route, especially in the downtown core.

But rest assured, before the TTC makes changes to any stop locations, it will carry out consultations with the local councillor and community affected, ensuring decisions made are done so with public input.

I will keep you updated on the progress of both of these initiatives.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON ACCESSIBLE TRANSIT

The Advisory Committee on Accessible Transit (ACAT) was established to provide a mechanism for ongoing public participation on accessible transportation in the city of Toronto on a voluntary basis. Advising the TTC and board, ACAT has worked to remove barriers and bring accessibility to the forefront of future transit initiatives. As the population ages, accessibility becomes more important for everyone.

In January, Susan Davidson was elected as the new Chair of ACAT, a position she will hold for one year. Susan became an advocate for accessibility on behalf of her daughter, who is a long-term user of Wheel-Trans, and of herself after suffering a spinal cord injury.

"After speaking with other Wheel-Trans users, it became apparent that many riders experienced similar frustrations and I wanted the opportunity to work with ACAT and TTC staff to bring forward and resolve those issues," she said.

In 2014, the TTC will become even more accessible with the introduction of new low-floor streetcars, in addition to our fully accessible bus fleet. With all stations fully accessible by 2025, Susan's goal is to help transition Wheel-Trans customers to become riders of the conventional system – bus, streetcar and subway.

This year, ACAT will be advising TTC staff on important initiatives including:

- design options for the next subway stations in the Easier Access program, which aims to make all stations accessible by 2025
- improvements to the Wheel-Trans on-line booking website
- accessibility of the PRESTO tap-and-go farecard system
- operating procedures for the new low-floor streetcars.

For more information on ACAT, visit ttc.ca or contact the Committee through Wheel-Trans Customer Service, weekdays, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 416-393-4111 or at wtcs@ttc.ca or at acat@ttc.ca.

However, the escalator adjacent to the east stairway will remain operational, allowing customers to exit the station to the east side of Dufferin St. The entrance will reopen at the end of April.

Health Canada. Morning-after pill to be studied due to questions over efficacy

Health Canada says it is studying the effectiveness of the so-called "morning after" contraceptive pills in the wake of news they aren't as effective in larger women.

The federal drug regulator says it is assessing new data that suggests a higher body weight could reduce the effectiveness of emergency contraceptives.

Health Canada says it is also looking at whether labelling changes are needed for all brands of the pills to reflect the problem.

The department's statement comes two months after French manufacturer HRA Pharma announced its emergency contraception pill doesn't work in women who weigh more than 176 pounds.

There are four brands of morning-after pills available without prescription in Canada: Next Choice, from Cobalt Pharmaceuticals; HRA Pharma's NorLevo; Option 2, from Perrigo International and Plan B from Women's Health Inc.

Health Canada says if it decides action needs to be taken, it will work with manufacturers to update labels and inform consumers.

The pills contain higher levels of levonorgestrel than standard oral contraceptives and work by preventing ovulation or fertilization of an egg. They can be taken up to 72 hours after unprotected sex or a contraceptive accident such as a condom breaking.

The pills do not have any impact if a woman has already become pregnant.

Health Canada says it is aware of a recent statement from the European Medicine's Agency alerting consumers to the fact that NorLevo's labelling had been altered to make reference to the observation that weight affects the efficacy of the medication.

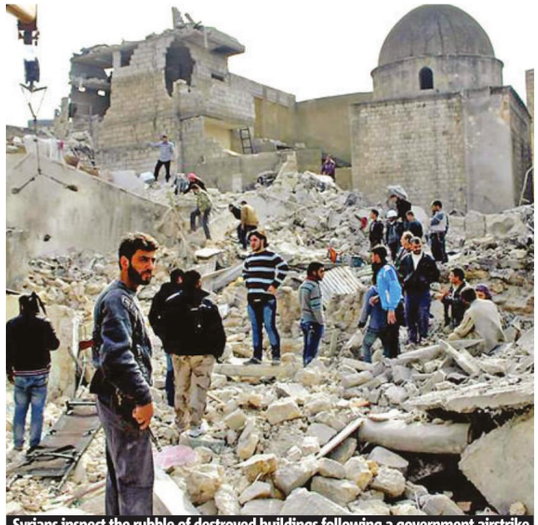
Group: Syria destroyed 'entire neighbourhoods'



Syrians inspect the rubble of destroyed buildings following a government airstrike in Aleppo, Wednesday. A rights group said Thursday the Syrian government used explosives and bulldozers to raze thousands of buildings in a campaign that appeared designed to punish civilians sympathetic to the opposition.

'Unlawful demolitions.' Human Rights Watch accuses government of deliberately razing homes to punish pro-opposition civilians

The Syrian government used controlled explosives and bulldozers to raze thousands of residential buildings, in some cases entire neighbourhoods, in a campaign that appeared designed to punish civilians sympathetic to the opposition or to cause disproportionate harm to them, an international human rights group said Thursday.

The demolitions took place between July 2012 and July 2013 in seven pro-opposition districts in and around Damascus and the central city of Hama, according to a report by Human Rights Watch. The New York-based group said the deliberate destruction violated international law, and called for an immediate end to the practice.

"Wiping entire neighbourhoods off the map is not a legitimate tactic of war," said Ole Solvang, emergencies researcher for HRW. "These unlawful demolitions are the latest additions to a long list of crimes committed by the Syrian government."

Human Rights Watch said many of the demolished buildings were apartment blocks, and that thousands of families have lost their homes.

It said government officials and media have described the demolitions as part of urban planning or an effort to remove illegal buildings. But Human Rights Watch said its investigation determined that military forces supervised the demolitions, which targeted areas that had recently been hit by fighting and were widely understood to be pro-opposition.

Syrian toddler rescued from rubble of building

Fourteen-month-old Ghina Khalil is recovering with her family in the northern Syrian city of Aleppo after being buried in rubble.

The stunning rescue, caught on video, corresponds to Associated Press reporting of events.

The footage shows a group of men frantically digging in the dusty rubble of her home after an alleged air strike on Jan. 22.

Amid cries of "God is greatest," the toddler's curly-haired head can be seen emerging from the dust, as the men scoop away handfuls of crumbled concrete with their bare hands. With her arms freed, the girl reaches up to wipe her eyes in a sign of life.

According to the activist who filmed the video, uploaded to the Internet by the Nur Media Centre, the girl was completely buried for at least three minutes and her mother was killed in the attack.

A video taken later showed Khalil in new clothes, with no visible injuries.

In this image taken from a Jan. 22 video, men dig 14-month-old Ghina Khalil out of rubble in Aleppo, Syria. The toddler was pulled out after men pulled aside rocks, concrete and dust to free her from under a smashed building bombed by government forces. NUR MEDIA CENTER/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Syrian government has been accused of using airstrikes and rocket attacks indiscriminately against residential areas.

Handed 28 years, Knox set to appeal once more

Guilty verdict upheld.
U.S. defendant calls ruling 'unjust'

An appeals court in Florence on Thursday upheld a guilty verdict against U.S. student Amanda Knox and her ex-boyfriend for the 2007 murder of her British roommate. Knox was sentenced to 28 and a half years in prison, raising the spectre of a long legal battle over her extradition if the conviction is confirmed.

Lawyers for Knox and her co-defendant, Raphael Sollecito, vowed to appeal to Italy's highest court, a process that will take at least another year and drag out a legal saga that has divided court watchers in three nations.

In a statement from her mother's home in Seattle, where she had awaited the verdict, Knox said she was "frightened and saddened."

The court reinstated the first guilty verdicts against Knox and Sollecito from 2009 for the death of Meredith Kercher, which had been overturned in 2011. But Italy's Supreme Court vacated that decision and sent the case back for a third trial.

Kercher, 21, was found dead Nov. 2, 2007, in the bedroom of an apartment she shared with Knox in the Italian city of Perugia. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ukraine crisis. Yanukovych takes sick leave, conspiracy theories abound

In the midst of Ukraine's unending political crisis, its embattled president went on sick leave Thursday, unleashing a wave of conspiracy theories while protesters have been demanding his ouster for months.

Was the 63-year-old Viktor Yanukovych really sick? Or was he feigning illness in preparation for something else, like dodging responsibility for a violent police crackdown on the protesters? Maybe he was ready to give in and hand over power to the opposition but hardliners in his government wouldn't let him?

The presidential website says he has an acute respiratory illness and a high fever.

Vitali Klitschko, leader of the opposition party Udar, suggested that Yanukovych could be pretending to take himself out of action in preparation for imposing a state of emergency. That has been a persistent worry of the opposition since protesters clashed violently with police two weeks ago, killing three demonstrators.

Two months of large anti-Yanukovych protests have at times paralyzed the centre of Kyiv. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sex ring had Super Bowl 'special': Cops

'Party packs.'
Texts advertising cocaine and sex combos were allegedly sent to clients

Officials say 18 people are being rounded up in New York City on allegations they sold "party packs" of cocaine and sex to high-end clients and texted clients to advertise ahead of this week's Super Bowl festivities.

The officials say the arrests follow an 11-month investigation by state and city authorities. The law-enforcement officials with knowledge of the operation spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because they weren't authorized to disclose it before court filings Thursday.

They say surveillance shows the ring laundered money and credit cards through clothing, wig, beauty supply and limousine businesses and targeted wealthy out-of-town customers, especially during large events.

Prostitutes would bring cocaine to clients who ordered the so-called party packs.

Sochi. Olympic organizers 'clarify' statement – athletes free to express themselves

A day after the head of the Sochi organizing committee appeared to contradict IOC president Thomas Bach on the rights of Olympic athletes to freely express themselves at news conferences, organizers issued a backpedalling statement Thursday "to clarify" their position.

Dmitry Chernyshenko said Wednesday that he didn't think athletes were allowed to speak about non-sporting issues at official Olympic news conferences. On Monday, Bach said athletes would be free to do so.

"The Sochi 2014 Organizing Committee would like to clarify comments attributed to Dmitry Chernyshenko yesterday concerning athletes being able to express themselves during press conferences. Sochi 2014 are fully aligned with the position of the International Olympic Committee," the committee said in a statement.

"Mr. Chernyshenko simply meant that athletes are free to express themselves at a press conference — but of course they cannot use a press conference to make a demonstration or protest — similarly, they cannot use any Olympic venue to demonstrate."

Star sparks debate on Israeli settlements

Oxfam tiff. Scarlett Johansson opts to stick with Tel-Aviv-based company SodaStream

Scarlett Johansson has parted ways with the international charity Oxfam because of a dispute over her work for SodaStream, a company operating in a West Bank settlement.

Johansson became the latest casualty of a widening campaign to boycott the settlements, drawing attention to a larger debate about whether Israel will become an international pariah, at a steep economic price, if it fails to reach a peace deal with the Palestinians. Israeli Finance Minister Yair Lapid stoked such fears this week, warning that if negotiations break down "and we enter a reality of a European boycott, even a very partial one, Israel's economy will retreat backward and every Israeli citizen will feel it straight in the pocket."

His comments reflected a growing sense in Israel that the coming weeks will be decisive for the country's future.

THE HAT THAT LAUNCHED 76K RETWEETS

THE METRO LIST

Neil Morton
metronews.ca

Here's some of the great stuff that's been trending on social media — not including #JustinPleaseComeToTurkeyOnHolidays and Justin turning himself in to Toronto police. Sorry, I need a break from the Biebs — or sabbatical.

1 Bell Let's Talk. The hashtag #bellletstalk lit up to the tune of three million tweets for the Fourth Annual Bell Let's Talk Day Tuesday, where Canadians break the silence around mental illness. More than $5 million was raised to support mental-health initiatives across the country. Even Rogers tweeted out to use the hashtag. Beautiful day showcasing power of Twitter to effect change.

2 Arby's. What people loved the most about the Grammys was Pharrell's Hat — it resembled Smokey Bear and Arby's restaurant logo. Hats off to Arby's who won the day with the tweet: "Hey @Pharrell, can we have our hat back?" It garnered more than 76,000 retweets. Pharrell responded: "Y'all tryna start a roast beef?" Another coup for brands using humour.

3 Titanic recreation. Leonardo DiCaprio crashed Jonah Hill's SNL monologue as Hill mocked his Wolf of Wall Street co-star. Jonah apologized and said to soothe his nerves, could they do that thing "that made me feel safe" on the movie set. That thing was a reenactment of the Titanic "I'm flying" scene.

4 Terrence Ross. In a spectacular display, the Toronto Raptor forward — last year's all-star slam dunk champion — put on a game for the ages, scoring 51 points against the LA Clippers and tieing Vince Carter's team record. What makes it more remarkable? Ross entered the game averaging just 9.3 points per game.

5 Air Canada comedy skit. Shaun Majumder did a parody of Air Canada's customer service on This Hour Has 22 Minutes, playing "Trevor" an Air Canada rep who outlines ridiculous options for people needing help. The point: Customer service is No. 1. So don't just say it, make it No. 1.

6 Instagrammy hit. An Instagram montage summed up style at the Grammys with a picture of Stormtroopers (Daft Punk), Wednesday from The Addams Family (Lorde), a Canadian Mountie (Pharrell's hat) and a wet dog (Beyoncé's hair). Suddenly, I feel just fine being ordinary in plaid and skinny jeans.

7 Budweiser ad. A heartwarming Super Bowl ad called Puppy Love starring a Clydesdale that comes to the rescue of a golden retriever puppy had more than five million views on YouTube (#bestbuds) since being released. Goes to show once again that funny and/or sentimental ads that don't push the product down your throat have the most impact.

8 Poutine. Watch out for La Poutine Week, which runs Feb. 1 to 7 as more than 100 restaurants across the country will be creating their own version of poutine for $10 or less, and Canadians will get the chance to choose their faves. #lapoutineweek.

9 Bachelor Wedding. Catherine Giudici and Sean Lowe tied the knot in front of family, friends and past stars from The Bachelor and The Bachelorette. Lowe's father officiated the ceremony and called it "an epic fairy tale." Slight proof that reality TV works in the real world sometimes.

10 Flappy Bird. This frustrating game with rudimentary graphics involving a flapping bird that has to stay airborne while avoiding pipe barriers is inexplicably all the rage right now on the app store. It's utterly addictive and is being hailed as the new Angry Birds. Goes to show again there is no accounting for taste.

Actors perform on stage during The Beauty of China Opera show at Pakuwon Imperial Ballroom in Surabaya, Indonesia, as part of the Chinese New Year celebrations known as the Spring Festival or the Lunar New Year, welcoming the Year of the Horse.

Chinese communities around the world were gearing up for the holiday. Based on the Lunisolar Chinese calendar, the new year is celebrated from the first day of the first month of the lunar year and ends with the Lantern Festival on the 15th day.

China's Lunar New Year migration is often referred to as the largest movement of people anywhere, with 3.6 billion trips of all lengths by bus, plane and train expected to be made over the 40-day travel rush. While still an annual ritual for millions working far from home, such journeys are being shunned by many of the newly prosperous who are increasingly using the holiday to fly to overseas.

Synopsis

Based on Joyce Maynard's novel of the same name, the action in Labor Day begins when a wounded, escaped criminal (Josh Brolin) hides out in the home of two strangers, Adele, a depressed divorcee (Kate Winslet) and her 13-year-old son, Henry (Gattlin Griffith). What begins as a hostage situation slowly changes as the stranger's sensitive side is revealed and he becomes a surrogate father figure for Henry and companion for Adele.

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

A tale of love and pies

Labor Day. Josh Brolin and Kate Winslet showcase an unexpected spark in this sweet Stockholm Syndrome story

Richard: Mark, it's been said that 90 per cent of the director's job is casting, and on that score Jason Reitman has knocked it out of the park. Labor Day is essentially a three-hander with Winslet, Brolin and Griffith responsible for the emotional weight of the movie. Griffith is convincing as a youngster abruptly placed in the position of son and surrogate spouse, but it is the leads that really carry the movie. Winslet is delicate and effective as the world-weary Adele while Brolin hands in another of his manly man performances, tempered by a hidden sensitive side. I'm curious to hear what you thought.

MB: You bet it's the acting that makes this one work, Richard! There's genuine chemistry between Winslet and Brolin. Brolin is so good I could actually believe his escaped convict could be innocent — no small feat. But the movie, set in 1987, feels like it could have been made in 1987. It's so square compared with Reitman's other work, which I adore. Only someone who's never seen a movie before wouldn't be able to figure out where the story was headed. But you can admire the film's quiet, stately pace, even if the whole thing feels like it's ripped out of a Harlequin romance novel. Don't get me started on the pie scene.

RC: I liked the pie scene. I don't want to give anything away for people who haven't seen the movie, but imagine the scene from Ghost with pastry instead of pottery and you'll get the idea. It's just wonky enough to spice up the story, and I thought Brolin pulled it off. Of all the leading men out there right now he's the only one I can think of to have the old school Lee Marvin grit to still look badass while folding pastry.

MB: Me, I just laughed, until I was shushed by a middle-aged woman in the back row ... I think the movie would have been more interesting if you weren't convinced from the start that Brolin was a good guy and if Winslet's romantic despair weren't quite so acute. Luckily, Griffith provides a good foil for both of them and distracts the viewer from these issues. One thing I really liked about the movie is its shortened time frame: the entire story takes place over one weekend and it sharpens the plot and the tension.

RC: Even though the movie takes place over one long weekend it does take its time to develop the relationship between Adele and the mysterious stranger. Because Reitman takes his time unveiling the relationship, it's a bit more believable than the story might otherwise have been. You're left with the question, "Is it Stockholm Syndrome or true love?"

MB: True need, Richard, and that's close enough for me.

Romantic comedy/drama

At Middleton

Director. Adam Rodgers

Stars. Andy Garcia, Vera Farmiga, Taissa Farmiga

Homer's Odyssey is writ small as a mother and daughter (played by real life mother and daughter Vera and Taissa Farmiga) and a father and son (Garcia and Spencer Lofranco) arrive at leafy Middleton College to take an admissions tour. The adults break away from their disdainful kids and start out on an adventure; her volatility and his caution begin to change on this single day away from marriage and the daily grind. The film strains at times and Farmiga's character is a weird mix of grating and endearing but At Middleton is unexpectedly pleasant and provocative. ANNE BRODIE

Drama

Rhymes For Young Ghouls

Director. Jeff Barnaby

Stars. Mark Antony Krupa, Roseanne Supernault

Set on the Red Crow Mi'kmaq Reservation in 1976, this self-assured debut feature from director Jeff Barnaby is the story of 15-year-old Aila (Devery Jacobs), an Aboriginal girl guided by spirits to exact revenge against a vicious government agent (Mark Antony Krupa) after she is moved into the reserve's residential school. Aila is an appealing heroine, played with gusto by Jacobs. There is sardonic humour and grit in the storytelling. Best of all, it showcases the talent of director Barnaby.

12 O'Clock Boys

Director. Lotfy Nathan

Stars. Coco, Pug, Steven

The name 12 O'Clock Boys refers to the daredevil dirt bikers in Baltimore known for gravity defying stunts on the city's main streets — popping straight-up wheelies to resemble the hands of a watch set to midnight. It's eye-catching but the thing that drives this powerful documentary is Pug, a 13-year-old biker-obsessed boy. This fly-on-the-wall doc follows him for three years, from curious, intelligent youngster with hopes of becoming a veterinarian to streetwise kid with few dreams for the future other than biking. This doc is an effective, poignant look at one young man's struggle.

Visitors

Director. Godfrey Reggio

Visitors opens in glorious black and white with a hypnotic, swelling score and a gorilla staring out, studying us. Hold two minutes. Think about our connection to apes. Then a young girl's face, and music, and hold. And repeat, with all manner of humans in varied states of emotional arousal and then observe the Louisiana swamp, the moon, garbage heaps, the planes of great buildings and headstones and birds in flight. There are no words in the 74 shots that make up this film, except carved in stone walls, just hypnotic music and the sounds of rushing wind. It's a polarising experience with the power to thrill and amaze or put to sleep. ANNE BRODIE

Comedy/Drama

Three Night Stand

Director. Pat Kiely

Stars. Sam Huntington, Meaghan Rath, Emmanuelle Chriqui

In this black comedy, a couple on a weekend getaway to a remote winter cabin discover the husband's ex-girlfriend is running the place. For a young couple that's already experiencing marital strife, it's the kind of coincidence that could push them over the edge. Three Night Stand features sincere and hilarious performances from all three leads. Kiely's biting dialogue ensures the film skirts the drippy tropes, and ultimately proves to be an earnest account of a troubled marriage.
MANORI RAVINDRAN

Comedy/Drama

The Great Beauty

Director. Paolo Sorrentino, Umberto Contarello

Stars. Toni Servillo, Carlo Verdone

An aging scenester surveys society in this Oscar-nominated import, which unabashedly evokes the spirit of previous Italian masterpieces with little success. Toni Servillo stars as Jep Gambardella, a journalist who wrote a brilliant novel in his youth and has been coasting ever since; as such, he fits right into a glitzy milieu where everybody is pretending to be more impressive than they actually are. Director Paolo Sorrentino favours striking compositions, but this supposed critique of decadent shallowness is itself gaudy.

That Awkward Moment

Director. Tom Gormican

Stars. Zac Efron, Michael B. Jordan

That Awkward Moment is aptly titled mainly because this film is full of them. Zac Efron is one of three libertine buddies transitioning from the sex-addled single life to monogamous devotion. The predictable premise presupposes its cleverness but these one-note characters simplify complex relationships to the banal. And the female characters are even more witless. Efron's supposedly astute love interest nonchalantly excuses his admitted assumption she was a prostitute because she keeps condoms. STEVE GOW

Elizabeth Banks is one sexy Lego

The Lego Movie. Actress talks about being the voice of a figurine and working with Morgan Freeman

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Since Elizabeth Banks voices Wyldstyle, one of the mini-figure heroes of The Lego Movie, it makes sense to meet for an interview at L.A.'s Legoland amusement park. But it's still fairly surreal, as surroundings go.

Is this the weirdest junket experience you've ever had?
I'll tell you, this is the most exciting junket I've ever been on because Morgan Freeman's here. He's a genius. Everything he says is gold. I mean, I edit [myself] because I still want to get jobs. Whereas Morgan Freeman's like, "F— it. I'm on the other side. They're going to hire me no matter what."

And he's right. They should, because he's a genius.

The running joke about your character's name is everyone assumes she's a DJ or something. So if you were actually a DJ, what would be your DJ name?
Um… I'm definitely not a DJ. I'm actually terrible with all that stuff. But my DJ name would be… like, Solo Claudia Goldenschwartz. "Solo" because I'm a solo DJ, I do it on my own.

Your character, while being a Lego figure, actually has curves.
Well, they're kind of drawn-on curves. Wonder Woman does, too. She's got, like, a sweetheart neckline, too. She's got the impression of it, anyway.

Did the curves strike you as odd?
I didn't notice, actually. But it wouldn't bother me. I'm OK with it. I mean, if someone's like, "She's a really sexy Lego, is that weird?" That's on you, man. Who knows, you might be a boob man. Look, I'm here to blaze a trail, and if that's how I do it, so be it.

While this is an animated film, did you get to work much with your co-stars?
I was really lucky on this. I recorded probably four sessions with Chris Pratt and then two sessions with Chris and me and Will Arnett. The three of us together, that was a very fun time. It was a lot of wasted time making each other laugh with jokes that are completely inappropriate for a children's movie.
What sorts of jokes are we talking about?
Well, Batman has a real kinky side to him, let's just say that. Look at him. He's in basically an S&M outfit.

What's coming up next for you?
My life right now is all about Pitch Perfect 2. I produced the first movie, I'm producing [and directing] the second movie. It's all about getting that script ready to go into production, bringing the cast back together and getting it ready for a release in 2015.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

Anna Wintour ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Anna Wintour thinks Sarah Jessica Parker is a perfect fit for Vogue

Anna Wintour has apparently been dropping hints that she has big plans at Vogue for pal Sarah Jessica Parker, and some of her underlings are getting nervous.

"Sarah has been consulted on a stunning array of Vogue's big moves over the last several months. She has totally entered the inner circle," a source tells Radar Online. "It's a surprising idea, but one that is not entirely a joke. Anna thinks Sarah, a fashion icon on Sex and the City, truly has what it takes to step into her shoes and take on a role at Vogue one day."

Parker, for her part, is apparently not wasting any time. "Sarah is playing this like she is serious and she wants it. She is doing her homework and learning the business like never before," the source adds.

"It's the fashion equivalent of running for president or getting nominated to the Supreme Court, and Sarah is treating it that way."

The Word

Sienna says she only blames herself for bad press

Sienna Miller's rise to fame got a bit muddled when she became a tabloid sensation thanks to affairs with Daniel Craig and Balthazar Getty, forcing her to take a step back from the spotlight.

But the British actress insists there's no one to blame but herself. "I sabotaged things. I burnt a lot of bridges," she tells Esquire magazine. "What was going on in my private life was not an easy thing to read about.

"People don't want to see films with people they don't approve of in them. I felt like I had no control over any aspect of my life, professionally or personally, so I deliberately disappeared. I was sick of myself, to be honest, or sick of that perception of me."

Beyoncé

Queen B+? University offers course on Beyoncé

Beyoncé is one of the world's most scrutinized pop stars, and now that study is moving to academia.

The Department of Women's and Gender Studies at Rutgers University is offering a course called Politicizing Beyoncé.

Kevin Allred, a doctoral student who is teaching the class, tells the university's online news site that he is using Beyoncé's career as a way to explore American race, gender and sexual politics.

The class supplements an analysis of Beyoncé's videos and lyrics with readings from black feminists. Allred says he's seeking to help students think more critically about media consumption.

Rutgers also has a class examining the theology of Bruce Springsteen's lyrics.

CHINESE NEW YEAR

Weekend, January 31-February 2, 2014

Be prepared for a wild ride

Just like its namesake, the upcoming Year of the Horse will be tempestuous, says Vancouver-based fortune teller and feng shui master Sherman Tai.

Over the past 130 years, other Years of the Horse have been unstable economically, politically and meteorologically.

"It's not a very good year," Tai said. "Too many uncertainties."

People born in the Year of the Horse tend to be charismatic, independent and unpredictable.

Since the year will reflect that unpredictability, be conservative in financial matters, Tai cautioned.

"The financial situation will be up and down."

He predicts the Canadian dollar will continue to drop, at least by another two or three per cent. The U.S. dollar, meanwhile, will have a much better year. But don't put all your eggs in one basket, Tai said.

The U.S. economy is "improving but not yet fully recovered."

Weather will follow the same chaotic pattern. This year will be a scorcher, Tai said, particularly for the eastern provinces. STEPHANIE ORFORD

Family traditions are at the heart of Chinese New Year. WONG SZE YUEN/SHUTTERSTOCK

Celebrate with loved ones

STEPHANIE ORFORD
For Metro

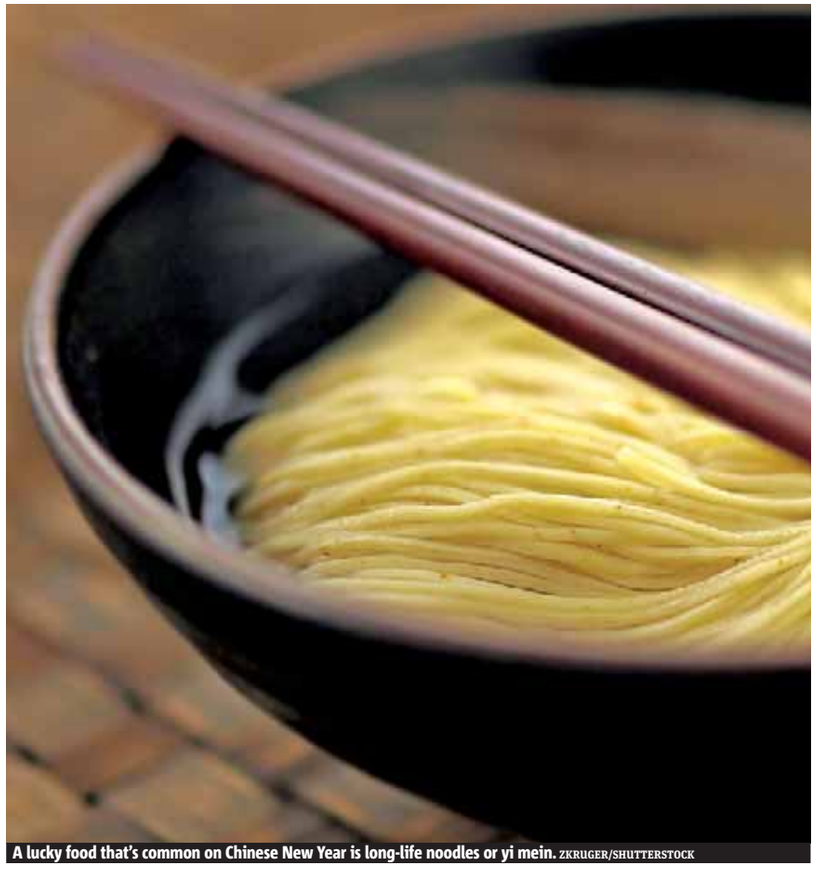
There is nobody better to celebrate with than your loved ones. Family traditions are at the heart of Chinese New Year, says Kathy Gibler, the executive director of Vancouver's Dr. Sun Yat-Sen Classical Chinese Garden.

It's a multi-day tradition for many families, spanning from several days before the new year, in which the family cooks, cleans and gets everything ready for the celebration, and continuing into two or three days after the new year.

Visiting friends and family is a must, Gibler said.

"You're wishing them a happy New Year's. It's a lucky thing to do. You really want to see all the people who are important to you."

On New Year's Day it's a modern tradition for families to go out for dinner. "Every Chinese restaurant is booked fully. So that's where you should go if you want to experience modern Chinese New Year — if you can get in!"



A lucky food that's common on Chinese New Year is long-life noodles or yi mein. ZKRUGER/SHUTTERSTOCK

Tasty tradition

It wouldn't be Chinese New Year's without the culinary traditions. Families are cooking together, restaurants are jam-packed and shops are giving away free samples.

Jiaozi, a.k.a. potstickers, are a favourite dish for the occasion in northern China, says Kathy Gibler, the executive director of Vancouver's Dr. Sun Yat-Sen Classical Chinese Garden. These dumplings can be steamed or fried, and come with many different kinds of fillings, including vegetarian, pork and green onion. "It's one of the things that I love," Gibler said.

Another lucky food that's common on Chinese New Year is long-life noodles or yi mein. Usually made of wheat flour, these chewy noodles can be used in soups, salads or stir-fries, and eating them is good luck and signifies long life.

"At the (Dr. Sun Yat-Sen Classical Chinese Garden) we have what's called the tray of togetherness," she said. It's an eight-sided tray with an array of fruits and nuts available for visitors.

Happy 2014!

Chinese New Year starts on the second new moon after winter solstice. This year, we celebrate the Year of the Horse, which is the year of benefits and self-reflection. You can expect luck to be on your side — not only will your good karma prevail, but also your hidden talents.

RAT

(Feb. 10, 1948 – Jan. 28, 1949; Jan. 28, 1960 – Feb. 14, 1961; Feb. 15, 1972 – Feb. 2, 1973; Feb. 2, 1984 – Feb. 19, 1985; Feb. 19, 1996 – Feb. 6, 1997)

Your mate will expect more from you. If you are single, you'll have to make an effort to meet someone because they will not plop on your lap. You will be recognized — and compensated — for your work ethic.

OX

(Jan. 29, 1949 – Feb. 16, 1950; Feb. 15, 1961 – Feb. 4, 1962; Feb. 3, 1973 – Jan. 22, 1974; Feb. 20, 1985 – Feb. 8, 1986; Feb. 7, 1997 – Jan. 27, 1998)

You will draw in many potential partners for love, business and friendship. Change is imperative to an ox during 2014, and the change will be great. From April until August, you have an opportunity to make money.

TIGER

(Feb. 17, 1950 – Feb. 5, 1951; Feb. 5, 1962 – Jan. 24, 1963; Jan. 23, 1974 – Feb. 10, 1975; Feb. 9, 1986 – Jan. 28, 1987; Jan. 28, 1998 – Feb. 15, 1999)

Do not bottle your emotions — let your feelings flow, but watch your temper. Employers will be impressed. You should have no issues saving money during 2014, as long as you spend wisely.

RABBIT

(Feb. 6, 1951 – Jan. 26, 1952; Jan. 25, 1963 – Feb. 12, 1964; Feb. 11, 1975 – Jan. 30, 1976; Jan. 29, 1987 – Feb. 16, 1988; Feb. 16, 1999 – Feb. 4, 2000)

Single? Expect to meet someone new in April. Be aware of job opportunities that promise the stars — they may blow smoke in your eyes. Your finances will improve; be mindful not to overspend.

DRAGON

(Jan. 27, 1952 – Feb. 13, 1953; Feb. 13, 1964 – Feb. 1, 1965; Jan. 31, 1976 – Feb. 17, 1977; Feb. 17, 1988 – Feb. 5, 1989; Feb. 5, 2000 – Jan. 23, 2001)

Your romantic side will impress anyone who is graced with your love. You will rise above challenges as long as you don't allow arrogance to guide you. Money will be your friend this year.

SNAKE

(Jan. 27, 1941 – Feb. 14, 1942; Feb. 14, 1953 – Feb. 2, 1954; Feb. 2, 1965 – Jan. 20, 1966; Feb. 18, 1977 – Feb. 6, 1978; Feb. 6, 1989 – Jan. 26, 1990)

You look calm on the surface, but love and passion will burn hot all year. Thinking about self-employment, going back to school or changing careers? Do it now. Procrastination will hold you back.

HORSE

(Feb. 15, 1942 – Feb. 4, 1943; Feb. 3, 1954 – Jan. 23,1955; Jan. 21, 1966 – Feb. 8, 1967; Feb. 7, 1978 – Jan. 27, 1979; Jan. 27, 1990 – Feb. 14, 1991)

You will exceed your expectations, but expect the unexpected. Luck is on your side; apply for jobs you always thought you could not get. But don't spend your money frivolously.

SHEEP

(Feb. 5, 1943 – Jan. 24, 1944; Jan. 24, 1955 – Feb. 11, 1956; Feb. 9, 1967 – Jan. 29, 1968; Jan. 28, 1979 – Feb. 15, 1980; Feb. 15, 1991 – Feb. 3, 1992)

People will gravitate toward your compassionate and loving nature. You will be given an opportunity to climb the career ladder — do not hesitate. Don't lend or spend money you do not have.

MONKEY

(Jan. 25, 1944 – Feb. 12, 1945; Feb. 12, 1956 – Jan. 30, 1957; Jan. 30, 1968 – Feb. 16, 1969; Feb. 16, 1980 – Feb. 4, 1981; Feb. 4, 1992 – Jan. 22, 1993)

Your loved ones will run to you for advice. You will be recognized for your proficiency on the job and knowledge of your industry. If you can help someone in a financial bind, then do it.

ROOSTER

(Feb. 13, 1945 – Feb. 1, 1946; Jan. 31, 1957 – Feb. 17, 1958; Feb. 17, 1969 – Feb. 5, 1970; Feb. 5, 1981 – Jan. 24, 1982; Jan. 23, 1993 – Feb. 9, 1994)

You will impress people who you connect with; you might even find a new mate in the midst of it all. From the end of winter to early spring, your sensitive side will be in full gear. Be patient with co-workers and summer will present a promotion at work.

DOG

(Feb. 2, 1946 – Jan. 21, 1947; Feb. 18, 1958 – Feb. 7, 1959; Feb. 6, 1970 – Jan. 26, 1971; Jan. 25, 1982 – Feb. 12, 1983; Feb. 10, 1994 – Jan. 30, 1995)

If single, you might not be by mid-summer or late fall. In a relationship? You can look forward to your commitment getting stronger. Your co-workers will look up to you and appreciate the way you handle stress in a work environment.

PIG

(Jan. 22, 1947 – Feb. 9, 1948; Feb. 8, 1959 – Jan. 27, 1960; Jan. 27, 1971 – Feb. 14, 1972; Feb. 13, 1983 – Feb. 1, 1984; Jan. 31, 1995 – Feb. 18, 1996)

Ooh la la, piggy, you will encounter many picks for love, but choose wisely, because this one will last. In a relationship? Hmm, get ready for a side attraction. This is your year to cash in. Looking for the perfect job? You will not have to look past April or May.

Start new year on a lucky note

Chinese New Year is a time of looking forward to the next year, so the number of lucky things you are able to do on New Year's plays a key role in determining your welfare over the next year, according to tradition, says Kathy Gibler, the executive director of Vancouver's Dr. Sun Yat-Sen Classical Chinese Garden.

Many of the traditions around Chinese New Year are based around the idea of luck, including fireworks and lucky money, she says. But simple symbols around the home make a difference, too.

Oranges are a lucky symbol because their round shape and their golden colour symbolize prosperity and wealth. A household might have a small orange tree, or simply a bowl of oranges on display.

Eight is another lucky symbol — "because the eight in Chinese sounds like the word 'abundance,'" Gibler said.

"You also always want a lot of red, which is the happy colour. Often, there are red lanterns hung up, and one of the things you decorate your house with are red pieces of paper with lucky sayings on them. We have them here at the garden all over the place."

One of the luck-bringing activities that people like to take care of before New Year's Day is to settle their debts. It's considered very positive to go into the new year debt-free.

"That last day there's a lot of running around — shopkeepers trying to collect their bills," she said.

Fireworks. Chase away evil spirits

STEPHANIE ORFORD
For Metro

The country that invented fireworks definitely knows how to put on a good show. Fireworks are integral to the celebration of Chinese New Year, says Jun Ing, a co-ordinator of Vancouver's Chinese New Year Parade.

During this year's 41st annual Chinese New Year parade in Vancouver, the parade's trained volunteers will be setting off bunches of fireworks for good luck.

Fireworks are a traditional way of ushering out the old year and welcoming the new one, says Kathy Gibler, the executive director of Vancouver's Dr. Sun Yat-Sen Classical Chinese Garden.

Chinese authorities have banned individual use of fireworks in recent years, but before that, everyone in Chinese cities would light them off on New Year's Eve and into New Year's Day, Gibler said.

Now cities put on big fireworks displays for the occasion instead.

"One of the traditional purposes, aside from the sheer fun of fireworks, is to chase away evil spirits," she said. "All the bad luck and all the stuff you want to get rid of from the past year, you make a big noise and scare it away."

While The Lord of the Rings trilogy got the ball rolling, Lorde's wins at the Grammys last weekend has solidified New Zealand's position as the coolest place on Earth.

Kiwi culture extends way beyond movies and music. Its wines are considered some of the New World's finest productions. The first to twist screw caps onto premium juice, they've taken Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Noir to places other countries can't even buy a ticket.

I love that about New Zealand wines. They know what they do best and, while they're never inexpensive, they deliver.

You might not be thinking about drinking white wine at this time of year. After all, nothing warms the soul on a cold Canadian winter's night like a nice, meaty red. I say worry less about the weather and more about what you've got in your glass.

And though I respect Lorde, Kim Crawford's 2013 Sauvignon Blanc ($19.95 - $22.99), with its sexy, citrus-infused star power, is way more Beyoncé.

Try it with fresh shellfish and vegetable-based dishes. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Go to NJ for football and Cincinnati for the chili

Super Bowl snack. The teams are from Seattle and Denver. The arena is in New Jersey and used by New York teams. So, continue the American geography lesson with Cincinnati Chili

This recipe serves six to eight. COURTESY RICARDOCUISINE.COM

Everyone has a go-to chili recipe — but this is chili with a twist. Cincinnati chili is a tradition in parts of Ohio, with various recipes calling for the addition of allspice, cinnamon and cloves combined with more traditional ingredients like chili powder.

It is usually served atop pasta with grated cheese and garnished with kidney beans.

This Cincinnati chili recipe from award-winning Canadian chef Ricardo is perfect for anyone looking for a new chili experience.

Ingredients

- 1 kg (2 lb) lean ground beef
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, chopped
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) olive oil
- 45 ml (3 tbsp) chili powder
- 5 ml (1 tsp) ground cinnamon
- 5 ml (1 tsp) ground cumin
- 2.5 ml (1/2 tsp) allspice
- 2.5 ml (1/2 tsp) hot pepper flakes (or to taste)
- 1 pinch ground cloves
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) white wine vinegar
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) Worcestershire sauce
- 750 ml (3 cups) water
- 1 can (398 ml/14 oz) tomato sauce
- 2 cans (156 ml/5.5 oz each) tomato paste
- 2 bay leaves
- 2 cloves
- Salt and pepper

Garnishes

- Canned red kidney beans, rinsed and drained
- Green onions, chopped
- Orange cheddar, grated

1. In a Dutch oven over medium-high heat, brown the meat, onion and garlic in the oil, breaking up the meat with a wooden spoon. Season with salt. Add the spices and cook for 3 minutes more.

2. Deglaze with the vinegar and Worcestershire sauce. Add the water, tomato sauce, tomato paste, bay leaves and cloves. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer gently for about 2 hours, stirring frequently. Remove the bay leaves. Adjust the seasoning.

3. For an authentic presentation, serve on al dente spaghetti. Garnish with kidney beans, green onions and cheddar. For something more casual, like a Super Bowl snack, serve in bowls with garlic bread.

Talk that Super Bowl talk like an expert

Football. Everything you need to sound like you know what you're talking about

TERESA KRUZE
life@metronews.ca

Super Bowl XLVIII will be a day of many firsts. It's the first Super Bowl held in the Northeast, the first hosted by two NFL franchises (Giants and Jets), and the first hosted by two states (New York and New Jersey).

How so? While the Giants and Jets are both New York teams, the stadium they play is across state lines in New Jersey. The Super Bowl has become much more than just a game, with festivities taking place all week in both the Big Apple and the Garden State.

C-c-c-cold

Sunday's game will be the first outdoor, cold weather Super Bowl in history and everyone is whining, er... talking about it. WIMPS. Canadian football fans have been braving games in bone-numbing temperatures for years. Super Bowl organizers are giving each ticket holder a swag bag seat cushion filled with hand warmers, ear muffs, gloves, tissues, a toque, lip balm and a radio to make the 82,500 frozen fans feel a little less frozen.

More than 100 million people are expected to watch the Seahawks take on the Broncos on Sunday. Will you be one of them? Here's all you need to know to enjoy the Super Bowl, and a few inside hints to make you look like an expert.

Who will you be cheering for during the big game? ISTOCK

O Canada

The Canadian connections

Three Canadians will take part in the big game.

Broncos' offensive tackle Orlando Franklin, though not born in Canada, moved to Scarborough, Ont. when he was three. Seahawks rookie Luke Willson of LaSalle, Ont., was drafted by the Toronto Blue Jays but chose football over baseball. Seattle punter Jon Ryan will be the first Saskatchewan native to play in the Super Bowl. He made the jump from CFL to NFL in 2006.

There will also be a Canadian sitting in the owner's suite. Broncos owner Pat Bowlen was raised in Alberta and retains his citizenship. TERESA KRUZE

Who is playing?

The Broncos are two-time Super Bowl champions and are coming off a record-setting year. Quarterback Peyton Manning led Denver to set new marks for points scored (606) and touchdown passes (55). The Seahawks have never won the Super Bowl, but come into the game with an equally impressive defense. On Sunday, it'll be the number one offense in the league against the number one defense. This hasn't happened since 1991. TERESA KRUZE

Seattle Seahawks (NFC champs)

Russell Wilson

Wilson's 25 and in his second year of playing for Seattle. He's been described as having a cannon arm, Houdini-like escape skills and is deadly outside the pocket. Some say he lacks experience and seasoning, but he has two big things going for him: the Seahawks' defense and former CFL great and NFL Pro Football Hall of Famer Warren Moon as a mentor.

Denver Broncos (AFC champs)

Peyton Manning

Peyton Manning, 37, has scorched the record books, and will likely go down as one of the best quarterbacks of all time. He has one Super Bowl ring. His critics predict he'll choke and freeze up on Sunday. After destroying the Tennessee Titans on a freezing December day, Manning said to his critics: "Whoever wrote that narrative can shove it where the sun don't shine."

Cool facts

Did you know....

- MetLife Stadium. The stadium will have 1,600 volunteers armed with shovels and ready to go if it snows before kick off.
- Today. Advertisers are paying up to 4.5 million dollars to run their commercials during the game.
- Back then. A 30-second commercial cost $40,000 during the first Super Bowl in 1967.
- Colours. The Broncos will be sporting their orange home jerseys and the Seahawks will wear their road whites. Teams that wear white jerseys have won eight of the last nine Super Bowls.

Entertainment

An opera singer and a Grammy winner

Renée Fleming will be the first-ever opera singer to perform The Star Spangled Banner at a Super Bowl, so the song's high notes shouldn't be a problem. Nerves shouldn't be either, as she also performed at the 2009 U.S. Inauguration and sang David Letterman's Top Ten one night.

Grammy winner Bruno Mars is set to rock MetLife Stadium and the frozen fans on Sunday during the halftime show. They also invited the Red Hot Chili Peppers, but Flea and the boys like to perform bare-chested. A parka and long underwear might be a good idea for this gig. TERESA KRUZE

With the Super Bowl quickly approaching we tasked Brendan Piunno, bartender at the recently launched The Carbon Bar in Toronto, to create two unique cocktails inspired by the Seattle Seahawks and Denver Broncos.

Paying homage to Seattle's Pike Place Market, Piunno tips his hat to the birthplace of Starbucks with a coffee-inspired take on a Manhattan. For Denver, Piunno says he created The Moscow Bronco as "a fun take on the Moscow mule, adding a spicy kick by muddling fresh sliced chili into the glass."

Both beverages offer a subtle zing and a perfect opportunity to impress your guests.

Seattle Seahawk-Inspired Pike Place Manhattan

- 2 oz Pike Creek Canadian Whisky
- *1 oz coffee-infused Martini Rosso
- Generous dashes of Angostura bitters

*Add a teaspoon of fresh ground coffee to 6 oz. Martini Rosso, stir and strain.
Garnish with a cherry and light sprinkle of fine ground coffee Shake or stir ingredients over ice. Enjoy up or on the rocks.

Denver Bronco-Inspired Moscow Bronco

- 2 oz Absolut Elyx
- 1 oz lime juice

Top with ginger beer. Add press sliced chili for a spicy Bronco kick. Garnish with sprig of fresh coriander. Serve in a rocks glass full of ice.

Collaros in, Burris out in Hamilton

Zach Collaros wasn't a free agent for long.

The 25-year-old quarterback signed with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats on Tuesday, a day after being released by the Toronto Argonauts. Collaros' deal is through the 2016 season.

The signing of Collaros ends veteran Henry Burris's time in Hamilton as he was released Thursday.

Burris guided Hamilton to a Grey Cup berth last season and was slated to become a free agent next month. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brazilian skier in critical condition after crashing out

A Brazilian gymnast who was expected to compete in freestyle skiing at the Sochi Olympics is unable to move her arms or legs and can't breathe on her own after she hit a tree while skiing in Utah this week, doctors said Thursday.

Lais Souza, 25, is fighting for her life and will definitely miss the Olympics, said Brazilian team doctor Antonio Marttos at a news conference in Salt Lake City.

She was injured Monday when she hit a tree while skiing recreationally in Park City, Utah, in an accident that doctors said could have happened to anybody. She was not injured while practising her freestyle manoeuvers. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NHL. Kadri and van Riemsdyk hit career milestones in latest win at Air Canada Centre

The Toronto Maple Leafs matched a season-high on Thursday, capturing their fifth straight home victory with a 6-3 win over the Florida Panthers.

Nazem Kadri had three assists, including his 100th career point, and James van Riemsdyk reached a new single-season best with his 22nd goal of the season.

Toronto (28-21-6) erased an early 2-0 deficit on goals by Cody Franson and Mason Raymond. Joffrey Lupul, Nikolai Kulemin and Tyler Bozak scored the other Leafs goals in the third.

Florida (21-25-7) got first-period goals from Nick Bjugstad and Sean Bergenheim. Dmitry Kulikov had the other Panthers goal.

Scott Clemmensen made 26 saves for his fifth loss of the season. Jonathan Bernier made 35 saves in the win.

The Leafs have just two regulation losses in their past 11 games.

Florida scored twice on their first seven shots of the game to open a 2-0 lead in the first period.

Bjugstad opened the scoring 1:39 into the first followed by Bergenheim at 13:50 to give the Panthers a two-goal lead.

It was all Toronto after that as the Leafs scored five unanswered goals. THE CANADIAN PRESS

DeRozan's star set to shine in New Orleans

Raptors guard DeMar DeRozan will get a chance to play on the same team as LeBron James at the NBA all-star game on Feb. 16 in New Orleans. VINCE TALOTTA/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

All those hot summer days in a quiet gym, doing boring drills, taking shot after shot after shot after shot, lifting weights and working out were done with Thursday night in mind.

So when DeMar DeRozan stood in a hotel lobby Denver as a newly-minted NBA all-star, the sense of pride was palpable.

"I work extremely hard every off-season to try to be the best player I can be," said the Raptors' DeRozan, who was voted to the Eastern Conference. "I don't ever look at myself as having a ceiling ... I just work my butt off. Just to be part of the all-star game means a lot personally, it's something you dream about."

A rare Raptor

DeMar DeRozan is just the fourth Raptor selected to an all-star team in the 19-year history of the franchise. Vince Carter and Chris Bosh each were named to the team five times and Antonio Davis was an injury replacement one year.

DeRozan joins Miami's Chris Bosh, Brooklyn's Joe Johnson, Washington's John Wall, Indiana's Roy Hibbert, Atlanta's Paul Millsap and Chicago's Joakim Noah as backups for the Feb. 16 game in New Orleans.

Toronto's Kyle Lowry has all-star bona fides but was left off the roster by conference coaches. He has alternative plans.

"It's great for our team, it's great for our organization, it's great for the city, it's great for the country," Lowry said of DeRozan's selection. "I'm happy for him.

"Me? I'm all right. Like I said, I'll be on a beach somewhere hanging out. I'll watch the all-star game and cheer for him." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

What's the difference?

A look at some of the difference makers for this Sunday's Super Bowl at MetLife Stadium in New Jersey

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the Broncos have the ball

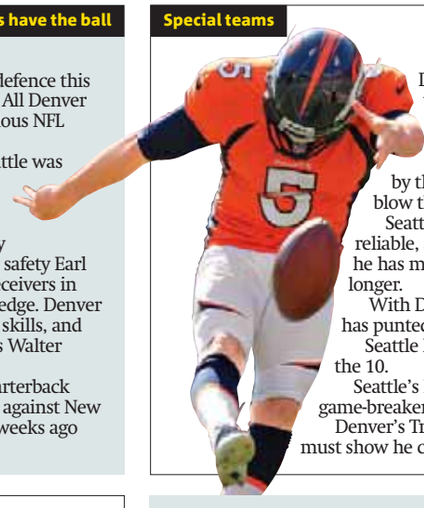
The Seahawks ranked first in overall defence this year, yielding a league-low 231 points. All Denver did was score 606, shattering the previous NFL mark.

Even juicier for this Super Bowl, Seattle was tops against the pass, which, of course, is a Peyton Manning specialty. This is likely where the game will be decided.

If Seattle's unequaled secondary led by All-Pro cornerback Richard Sherman and safety Earl Thomas can handle Manning's myriad receivers in man coverage, the Seahawks get a huge edge. Denver has not faced a defence with these cover skills, and those talents even extend to nickel backs Walter Thurmond and Jeremy Lane.

Of course, Seattle has not faced a quarterback like Manning, either. His 400-yard game against New England in the AFC Championship two weeks ago epitomized his sensational season.

Special teams



Denver kicker Matt Prater broke the NFL record with a 64-yard field goal and might have the strongest leg in the league. He shouldn't be bothered much by the swirling winds should they blow through MetLife Stadium.

Seattle's Steven Hauschka also is very reliable, although his range is not like Prater's. But he has made 17 of 18 field goals from 40 yards or longer.

With Denver's offence clicking, Britton Colquitt has punted just once in the playoffs.

Seattle P Jon Ryan excels at putting the ball inside the 10.

Seattle's Percy Harvin, if healthy, is a punt-return game-breaker any time he touches the ball.

Denver's Trindon Holliday can break big returns, but must show he can hang onto the ball.

When the Seahawks have the ball

Beast Mode. And big plays.

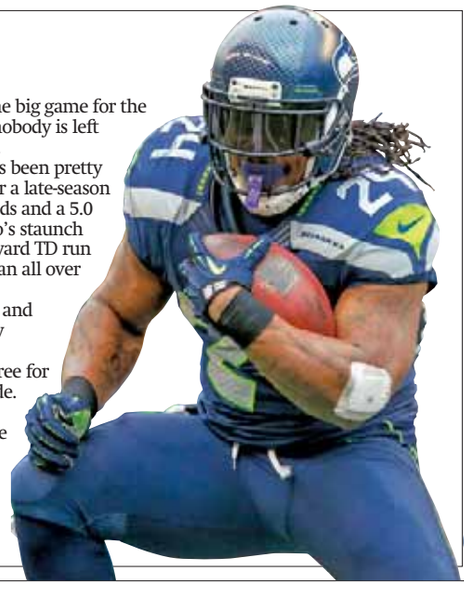
That's what got the Seahawks to the big game for the second time in eight years, although nobody is left from that team that lost to Pittsburgh.

Running back Marshawn Lynch has been pretty much unstoppable in the playoffs after a late-season slump. He powered his way to 109 yards and a 5.0 average per rush against San Francisco's staunch defence in the NFC title game. His 40-yard TD run got Seattle back in the game, and he ran all over New Orleans the previous week.

Denver has stepped up defensively and will be in excellent shape if it can slow Lynch.

But don't think Lynch can't burst free for big gains and get the tough yards inside.

Seattle's offensive line struggled protecting Russell Wilson, but was fine when pounding it out against the 49ers. The Broncos aren't as physical or as deep defensively, and without linebacker Von Miller, could be vulnerable.



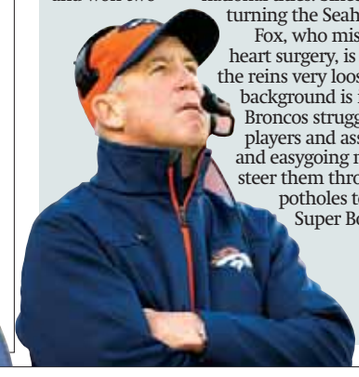
Coaching

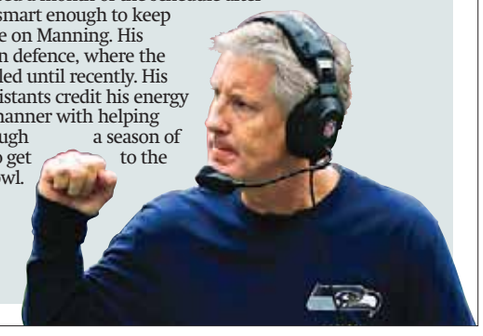
Seattle's Pete Carroll and Denver's John Fox both took over moribund franchises. Now look where they are.

Both are strong motivators, although Carroll does it in more of a rah-rah style his players embrace.

No team is more aggressive, especially on defence, Carroll's specialty, than the Seahawks. He had some success in a previous head coaching stint with the Patriots, then went to USC and won two national titles. Since returning to the pros, Carroll has done a brilliant job turning the Seahawks into a championship contender.

Fox, who missed a month of the schedule after heart surgery, is smart enough to keep the reins very loose on Manning. His background is in defence, where the Broncos struggled until recently. His players and assistants credit his energy and easygoing manner with helping steer them through a season of potholes to get to the Super Bowl.





Sherman next in line for 'duck' hunt vs. Manning

Seahawks cornerback Richard Sherman surely wouldn't mind catching one of Broncos quarterback Peyton Manning's "ducks." GETTY IMAGES FILE

Peyton Manning and Richard Sherman can agree to agree.

No war of words between the record-setting Broncos quarterback and the star Seahawks cornerback who will try to slow him down in the Super Bowl.

In his regular column for the MMQB.com website, Sherman ranked Manning as the smartest quarterback in the NFL a few weeks ago.

After gushing about his adjustments for a few sentences, Sherman added: "His arm, however, is another story. His passes will be accurate and on time, but he throws ducks."

Not exactly a revelation to anybody who has watched Manning toss a football. Asked about the "ducks" on Wednesday, Sherman said, "Well, I still feel the same way I felt."

"He is a great quarterback. He does a great job," he added. "At the same time, when he catches the ball he doesn't necessarily catch the laces all the time. He throws an accurate ball in regards to how he catches it. He just gets it on time and delivers it accurately."

And so Manning was asked about that comment Thursday and wasn't the least bit offended.

"I believe it to be true," he quipped.

"I do throw 'ducks,'" he said. "I've thrown a lot of yards and touchdown 'ducks.' I am actually quite proud of it."

Told later Thursday of Manning's response, Sherman said: "I agree. That's exactly what I said."

Seahawks RB's game 'speaks for itself': Sherman

Silent mode. Marshawn Lynch, unlike teammate, done talking ahead of Super Bowl Sunday

Marshawn Lynch said Thursday it will be good to get back to football after the quiet Seattle running back wrapped up his final mandatory media session of Super Bowl week.

Lynch took questions for about seven and a half minutes during the morning session, his longest such stretch this week. He talked for less than seven minutes at both media day on Tuesday and the media session at the team hotel on Wednesday. "It's going to be good to get back to football," Lynch said. "Real good."

Lynch limited his answers to football-related questions, all with Seahawks fullback Michael Robinson by his side. Robinson joked as he sat down that he was just a prop.

Lynch's aversion to speaking with the media had become a major focal point as the Seahawks started their preparations for Sunday's game against Denver. While Seattle was getting attention last week for the comments made by Richard Sherman during the NFC championship game, this week it was about Lynch's reluctance to open his mouth.

"I think he shouldn't have to do everything that he doesn't feel comfortable with," Sherman said. "But myself, I'm fine with it. I enjoy it. I enjoy getting the message out that I want to get out, and I enjoy supporting my teammates. The great Marshawn Lynch, I think his game speaks for itself. It says enough for everybody to talk about for weeks and weeks."

Even with only talking for a few minutes, Lynch managed to make an attention grabbing statement. Asked what he thought about assistant head coach Tom Cable when he arrived in 2011, Lynch made reference to a reported incident with an assistant coach when Cable was Oakland's head coach in 2009.

"Well, being from Oakland, all I knew about him was that he punched people," Lynch said. "That's my type of person."

It was unclear if he was being serious with his comment.

Notes from the Super Bowl

- Positive concussion trends. The NFL says the number of concussions in practices and games in the preseason and regular season dropped 13 per cent from 2012 to 2013. Using information collected from team doctors, the league also says there was a 23 per cent decrease over the past two seasons in the number of concussions caused by helmet-to-helmet contact. Speaking at a pre-Super Bowl news conference Thursday, Jeff Miller, the league's senior VP of health and safety policy, calls the data "positive trends."
- Primate picks the winner. A Utah ape that has correctly picked the Super Bowl winner for six straight years is predicting the Seattle Seahawks will be the next NFL champion. Erica Hansen of Hogle Zoo in Salt Lake City says Eli the ape ran into an enclosure Thursday and swiftly knocked down a papier-mâché helmet bearing the Seahawks logo, signalling his pick. The 13-year-old primate hasn't been wrong since 2006.
- UFC chokes out the party. When the UFC piggybacked on Super Bowl weekend, the usual promotion for Saturday's pay-per-view event went out the window — and landed on the NFL's media day. And, well, just about any hot spot this week where NFL or major media outlets were camped out, so was the Ultimate Fighting Championship. The UFC will hold UFC 169 at the Prudential Center in Newark, N.J., just a few miles from where the Super Bowl will be played Sunday.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
You may prefer to deal with facts but there are times when you must take what you are told on trust, and this is one of them. Those you work with may be difficult at times but they are still on your side.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Something will seize your imagination today and you will move in a new direction. Does what you are doing have any practical or financial value? Who cares! It's enjoyable!

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
Despite what some negative types might say, most people in the world are just like you. Keep that in mind today when dealing with strangers. You may be surprised how much you have in common.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
Some people think you are the best thing since sliced bread — and they're right. But don't let flattery and adulation go to your head because there are others who would like an excuse to take you down a peg.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
There may be a thousand chores you'd like to avoid but you can't, so don't waste time on wishful thinking. Positive thinking, however, is to be encouraged, so imagine you are having the time of your life.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
Make the most of your current run of good fortune and make sure those you are closest to know how you feel about them. Chances are they know anyway but it never hurts to make sure.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
It will pay you to come on less strong today, especially at work but also at home. You don't need to prove yourself. In fact, you will impress people more if you switch off and have fun.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Have fun. Hang out with your friends. This isn't a day to think about any of the many things you have been worrying about. You deserve a break so reward yourself. Others will smile too.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
You know what needs to be done to put things right and put loved ones and business colleagues at ease, so do it. Just make sure you can deliver on any promises you might make — and never, ever make promises about money.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
You will find it easy enough to get your way over the next 24 hours, especially if you tell others what they want to hear. Is that dishonest? Maybe, but it's not the worst thing you'll do.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
The more you ask for, the more you get. The more you get, the more you want. Just be careful you don't get so much that you can hardly meet the responsibilities that go with it.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
Your future has rarely looked brighter. So why so glum? Whatever the reason, you need to snap out of it and recognize that, compared to most people, you are on easy street. All you really have to worry about is staying there. SALLY BROMPTON
